The Isy ceiling mounted shower with self powered light is part of a system that speaks the language of simplicity: it is not an effort of design but an idea which flows from water's own creativity and follows its plastic forms. Less is better, least is best: the utmost formal simplification for the first mixing tap in the world made with vanishing technology. Designed by Matteo Thun with Antonio Rodriguez.

The Isy ceiling mounted shower head 170x170mm with built in self powered light is crafted from stainless steel.
